"Russia hangs like a storm cloud on the horizon of Europe dark and silent. It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel indifference, which happily no man pretends to feel in the issue of events."

"Of our own troubles, no man can see the end." . . . Harpers Magazine issue of Oct. 10, 1947.

"Phone-In" Planned For First Grade Students

A phone-in is being planned for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week as a convenience for those parents who have not previously registered their children for the first grade next year, according to Fred Schultz, superintendent of schools.

"Registration for the Murray City Schools was officially held on March 23 and 24, but there continue to be late registrations, as the early dates were overlooked or not convenient," Schultz said.

"Parents who have not previously registered children for the first grade this fall may do so by telephoning the principal's office at the Austin, Carter, or Robertson Elementary Schools, Schultz continued. "In addition, the office of the Board of Education, whose phone number is 753-4363, may be used on these dates to register students for the first grade."

The superintendent said that information needed for this registration includes the child's place of birth, date of birth, some information about the parents, and whether or not the child has had pre-school training.

"If parents have children that have not been previously registered, please assist us by phoning in the necessary information in order that planning may be done which will insure your child of a good start in school," Schultz concluded.

The speaker for the meeting will be G. K. Wallace of Temple Terrace, Florida. Mr. Wallace began preaching in 1924 at the age of twenty-one and has preached for churches from Florida to California. For some twenty-three years he did evangelistic work conducting up to thirty meetings a year.

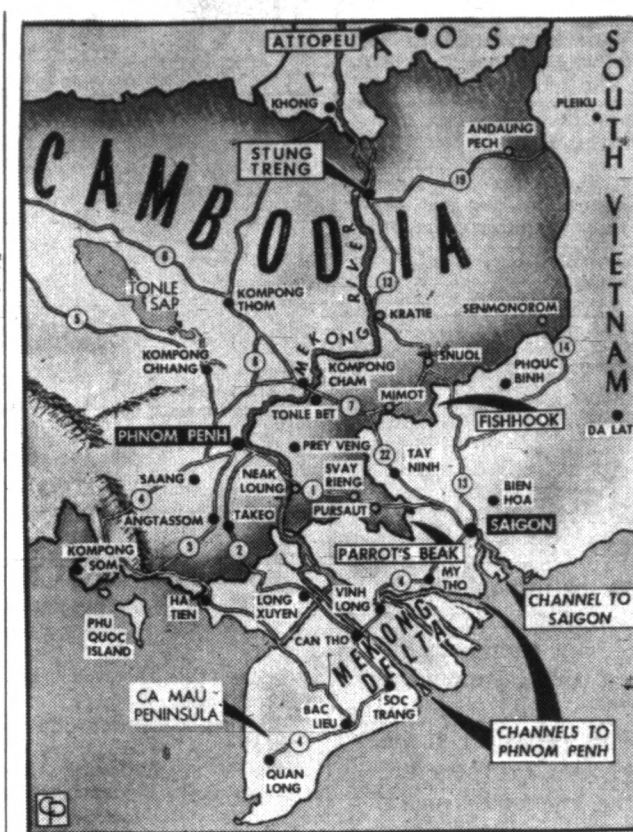

He has also served in various other capacities. During fifteen years of located work in Wichita, Kansas, he raised the money and promoted the building of the Maude Carpenter Children's Home.

While preaching in Temple Terrace, Florida, he taught Bible at Florida Christian College and served as Director of Public Relations for that institution. For seven years he served as Executive Assistant to the President of Freed Hardeman College, Henderson, Tennessee, and for five years as Vice President.

He has appeared on the lecture platform of most of the Christian colleges and on the lecture program of one college for twenty-eight years.

Wallace is the author of the book "Denominational Dogmas" and has written numerous booklets and tracts. He is a staff writer of the "Gospel Advocate" and has contributed to such papers as the "Firm Foundation," "Christian Worker," "Bible Banner," and "Gospel Guardian."

There will be congregational singing at each service of the meeting directed by Frank Pool of Locust Drive, Murray. The Green Plain building is located south of Murray on the Old Murray-Paris Road. The elders extend a most cordial invitation to the public to attend.

Nixon Speech On Cambodia Set Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, armed with an "encouraging" progress report on the Cambodian campaign, plans to appeal to the nation Wednesday night for support, in a move he hopes will knock down the Senate's efforts, to restrict his military options in Indochina.

Looking tanned and relaxed after a long California weekend, Nixon was working on the 15-minute televised report he will deliver at 9 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

Aides said he would tell the nation of the "encouraging" briefing he received during the weekend from his high military advisers on both the Cambodian operation and the Vietnamization efforts. With Senate critics ready to vote on a series of amendments aimed at curbing Nixon's powers as commander-in-chief, aides said Nixon would appeal for public support.

Monday the White House clarified one aspect of the President's Cambodian policy. It said he has ruled out U.S. air cover and logistical support for any South Vietnamese forces which might remain in Cambodia after June 30, the deadline for the U.S. pullout.

"U.S. air support in Cambodia after June 30 would relate directly to the security of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler. "That does not suggest tactical air support of ARVN army of the Republic of South Vietnam forces in Cambodia after June 30."

Ziegler's statement suggested Nixon was attempting to discourage extension of the war in Cambodia by the Saigon government, which is seeking to bolster the regime of Gen. Lon Nol, Cambodian chief of state. Ziegler's reference to air support after June 30 appeared to be leaving the door open for more bombing raids inside Cambodia, if necessary, to protect American troops in South Vietnam.

Smoky The Bear Now The Critic's Target

If there's one American institution that is safe from attack in these days when practically everybody is being attacked by somebody or other, we would have thought it was Smoky the Bear.

But no. Dr. Harold Biswell, professor at the University of California's School of Forestry and Conservation at Berkeley, has leveled his sights on Smoky. What's more, to the non-technical observer, and perhaps to the thoughtful expert observer as well, he seems to make sense.

One of the Medill School of Journalism's fledgling reporters came across a report by Dr. Biswell the other day and found him contending that Smokey's approach to forest preservation actually makes huge destructive forest fires inevitable instead of preventing them.

Dr. Biswell says forest fires are natural. They're nature's ways of cleaning up the forest.

Under natural conditions they serve not to burn down the trees but to burn the fuel that accumulates on the forest floor before it reaches dangerous proportions. Dr. Biswell cites a study of the giant sequoias in the Sierra Nevada which showed that brush fires occurred about every two years from 1454 to 1912.

Smoky's policy of preventing forest fires encourages the buildup of large amounts of brush until a holocaust is inevitable, says Dr. Biswell.

"Prior to adoption of our present fire suppression policy," the report says, "a ranger could go out on horseback with his shovel and usually not have difficulty in extinguishing a fire, and little damage was done."

"But today, a fire in the same spot would probably require 20 to 100 men or more with bulldozers, airplanes and tanker and, when the fire is out, the landscape will be badly scarred, with great attendant damage."

Then the Forest Service asks for more money to spend on suppressing small fires, which makes large fires inevitable, says the Californian.

Dr. Biswell's study seems to have attracted little attention. Perhaps it deserves more. Unlike so many of our problems, here's one that can be grappled with. In a time when everybody is concerned, or says he's concerned, with saving our environment, it shouldn't be hard to set up some experiments to test Dr. Biswell's idea against Smoky's.

How about setting aside two similar forest areas? In one controlled burning would be done periodically. In the other Smoky's formula would be followed. In 10 years we would be able to make some judgements about intelligent forest management.

And we hope Smoky's feelings aren't hurt.—Paducah Sun-Democrat.

Congratulations To Mr. Martinez

We are happy to extend our congratulations to Roger Martinez, a 19-year-old engineering student at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, Tex.

There was a time, we admit, when we would have scoffed at such an activity on campus. But not any more, friends, not any more.—Anderson (S.C.) Independent.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The recent market trend is nothing more than "a natural reaction" to the excesses of the 1963-1968 bull market in the opinion of Bregman & Co. The investment adviser does not interpret the downturn as a sign of a "diseased or disintegrating" market or as a "harbinger" of a depression. On the contrary, "liquidation of the speculative excesses" has reached a point where the company "regards the present as the beginning of a bottom-building phase."

The market seems to have arrived at a point not only for market analysts but even administration officials where "the less said about it the better," according to E. F. Hutton & Co. The company says it believes the market appears to have "moved out of the realm of reason or value," and adds that stock projections "can be offered only with 'slim conviction that they have any real validity.'"

The persistence of the decline, Spear and Staff Inc. believes, is evidence that the bear market is "feeding on its own gore...a kind of mindless self-destruct mechanism." The company adds that it may be wise for the administration "to let the animal alone." Premature attempts to kill the bear market such as a reduction in margin and discount rates or optimistic "pious platitudes" will only "prolong the agony."

ONE-DAY BREATH

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI)—Editorial page writers of the New Britain Herald were back in business Thursday after a one-day breather in favor of "pretty pictures."

The afternoon daily devoted Wednesday's editorial page to pictures that would "make the troubles of the world go away" but would allow a "breather from the issues and agonies of our times."

Pictures showed parks, playgrounds and other scenes of leisure.

Weather Experts Say Most Rain Occurs Tuesday-Friday

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Wouldn't you know it? Fine weather all week long and then, on the weekend, when you have things planned, it rains or does something else disgusting.

You may believe this and think your own experience proves it. Actually, say the weather experts, it isn't so. It rains (or snows or whatever) more often and heavier Tuesday through Friday than at other times.

This fact, if you'll credit it, has been attributed to another fact—that man's air polluting activities are briskest on weekdays. Recently reported studies have shown that precipitation is increased downwind of city-industrial complexes in New York state, St. Louis, and Chicago.

Presidential Vetoes—F.D.R. Had the Most—635!

By HARRY KURSH
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Nixon's first veto in January of an important and relatively popular appropriation bill—nearly $20 billion for a variety of purposes in health, education and welfare—has generated considerable debate among scholars.

Because Congress failed to override his veto, some argue that it was proof of Nixon's popularity, or power, as the nation's Chief Executive. Others contend that Nixon backed Congress into an uncomfortable position by his unprecedented act of vetoing the bill, with an accompanying explanation, before tens of millions of television viewers.

Actually, a study of presidential vetoes since George Washington's administration clearly indicates that Congress has seldom negated a president's veto.

DURING his first two terms in office, the ever-popular George Washington felt compelled to veto congressional actions twice. Neither veto was overridden. Thereafter, it was not until March 3, 1845—some 30 vetoes and nine presidents later—that a veto was overridden.

It happened during the one-term administration of John Tyler, who had vetoed 10 bills. President Nixon's January veto was the 2,251st veto exercised by a chief executive. Of all these vetoes, Congress went against the president only 73 times, or less than 4 percent. The dubious distinction of having had the poorest "batting average" in vetoes goes to Andrew Johnson.

Johnson had vetoed 29 bills,

Franklin D. Roosevelt
He vetoed 635 bills.

Andrew Johnson
15 vetoes overridden.

but more than 50 per cent (15 bills vetoed) were overridden by Congress. Numerically, second place for greatest number of bills vetoed, 12, and subsequently overridden by Congress is taken by Harry S. Truman.

But Truman's percentage of success was much greater than Johnson's because Truman had disapproved a total of 250 congressional actions.

THE RECORD for bills vetoed 635, is held by Franklin D. Roosevelt. But it must be remembered that FDR had served nearly four complete terms as president. By comparison, Grover Cleveland, who had served only two terms in office, had vetoed 584 bills. Congress rejected nine of them.

Presidential authority to veto a bill and then have it overridden by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress is, what every schoolboy knows, a unique feature of the American Constitutional system of "checks and balances."

It was this system, notably the right of Congress to override a "sovereign" veto, which evoked criticism of the weakness of American democracy by the 19th century's famed political philosopher, Alexis de Tocqueville. He thought that power to override the veto put the president at the mercy of the U.S. Congress.

On the other hand, noted historian James Bryce in his 1920 volume, "The American Commonwealth," said: "The strength of Congress consists in the right to pass statutes; the strength of the president in his right to veto them."

Make Weeks Wetter
Similar studies elsewhere seem to support the idea that industrial operations are making the weeks wetter than the weekends. The theory is that particles spewed into the air on workdays provide condensation nuclei which in turn increase rainfall.

So go ahead and plan your weekend outings. If they are rained out, you can blame it on unusual weather, if you prefer that explanation. You may even take some comfort from a recent statement by J. Murray Mitchell Jr., a climatologist of the Environmental Science Services Administration in Washington.

"It should be realized," says Mitchell, "that if there is anything unusual about the weather, it is that somewhere and in some respect it is always unusual."

Under the Constitution, if the president does not sign a bill within 10 days (Sundays excluded), the bill automatically becomes an Act of Congress, or law. If he vetoes a bill, he simply returns it unsigned to whichever house of Congress it had originated, together with a message stating his objections.

However, if Congress adjourns within the 10-day period, the president may simply shunt it aside without his signature and it is "pocket vetoed."

Receives Third Patent — Jennings Turner, Turner Machine Shop, Mayfield, received notification of approval of a third patent from the Patent Department of the U.S. Department of Commerce. His invention pictured in a scale model is a universal driving and clamp mounting structure for crankshaft grinding. Turner has received two other patents; one a fly cutting boring machine and the other machine to make shell casings. Turner taught at the Tighman Trade School for five years and calls himself "a self made engineer." "A patent is like an oil well; it is alright if you get it pumping", Turner said. Turner is a former resident of Caldwellwater in Calloway County.

Dodgers Edge Cubs 5-4 In Rain-Shortened Game

By United Press International
Rico Carty isn't the only bonafide All-Star candidate who has been left off the National League ballot.

Billy Grabarkewitz of the Los Angeles Dodgers is another. Grabarkewitz, just another infield candidate with the Dodgers during spring training, hasn't stopped hitting since winning the regular third-base job at the beginning of the season.

The 5-foot-10, 170-pound infielder delivered his third game-winning hit in as many days.

BRUINS PROMOTE JOHNSON TO HEAD COACHING POST

BOSTON (UPI)—As predicted more than two weeks ago, the Boston Bruins conducted a very far-reaching and expensive search for a new coach of the Stanley Cup champions. It was four feet long and took two seconds.

The Bruins promoted Assistant General Manager Tom Johnson to succeed the retired Harry Sinden Monday. In picking Johnson, they chose a man who had occupied the desk next to Sinden's in the club's front office.

Johnson, 42, a former Norris Trophy winner as the National Hockey League's best defenseman while playing with Montreal, needed "about two seconds" to accept a one-year coaching contract and will enjoy the additional security of continuing as assistant to General Manager Milt Schmidt. The promotion of Johnson stemmed from Sinden's surprise decision to leave hockey only days after his team had won Boston's first Stanley Cup in 21 years.

Monday, when his two-run homer in the sixth inning carried the Dodgers to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs in a rain-shortened contest.

Grabarkewitz' homer, his fifth of the season, came after Wes Parker had cut the Cubs' lead to 4-3 with a run-scoring double. It was Grabby's second game winning homer in as many days. He also delivered the big hit, a two-run triple, in a Dodger victory Saturday night.

There were no games scheduled in the American League. Grabarkewitz, who is hitting .373, should get plenty of write-in votes for the All-Star team, even though his name was not among those placed on the original list of candidates last spring. However, it is unlikely he will beat out Tony Perez of Cincinnati for the third-base position. Perez is currently hitting .376 and leads the majors in home runs (18) and runs batted in (53).

Dock Ellis scored his first complete game triumph since April 9th with a six-hit performance against San Diego. Ellis evened his record at 4-4 and helped the Pirates' offense with a single, a stolen base and two runs scored. Matty Alou backed Ellis' pitching with a pair of doubles.

Commissioner Gives Bouton Slap On Wrist

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Bouton's first literary effort has not been well received by the baseball commissioner, but it appears to have caught on big with the anti-establishment crowd.

The 31-year-old Bouton received a stern reprimand from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Monday for having written a soon-to-be released book about the inside doings of professional baseball. The book, which has been excerpted in two installments of a national magazine, has created quite a bit of controversy among players and fans because of its frankness about players' habits and their off-the-field activities.

The commissioner told Bouton, who pitches for the Houston Astros, that he was displeased with the book and warned him against any future writings of that nature. Kuhn added that no further action was necessary at this time.

While the commissioner expressed his unhappiness with the book, there were two members of the under-30 generation who showed up at the commissioner's office during the meeting to offer their support of Bouton in the form of protest.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES IN SAWCHUK DEATH

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI)—The Nassau County District Attorney's Office is awaiting the completion of an investigation before deciding whether to convene a grand jury for possible criminal action in connection with the death of hockey star Terry Sawchuk.

The 40-year-old Sawchuk, considered one of the National Hockey League's premier goalies during a 20-year career which began in 1951 with Detroit, died Sunday in a New York hospital of complications stemming from what has been described as "horseplay" with New York Ranger teammate Ron Stewart.

Sawchuk and Stewart shared a rented home on Long Island and witnesses say the two began an argument in a bar near their home on the morning of April 29. Long Beach City Police said Sawchuk told them that he "accidentally" fell on Stewart's knee during some "horseplay" later in the day.

Despite Sawchuk being hospitalized and undergoing three operations, Long Beach Police said they considered the incident closed and never questioned Stewart. However, following Sawchuk's death, a police spokesman said the 37-year-old Stewart, who has been at his regular home in Barrie, Ont., will be asked "in the near future" to come to Mineola to give his version of the incident.

ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENT

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The Indiana Pacers, champions of the American Basketball Association, Monday announced the appointment of John Weissert as general manager.

Weissert replaced Mike Storen who had led the Pacers to two division titles and then the playoff crown in three years.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—When Al Unser, the Indianapolis talking nut driving champ was 21, he felt pretty much the same way a lot of 21-year-olds feel today.

He felt like protesting. That was 10 years ago and Al Unser perhaps had far more reason to protest than most of the 21-year-olds today because something was snatched away from him he never could get back. It all happened in an instant and he lost one of his brothers.

Al Unser's older brother, Jerry Jr., hit the wall on the northwest turn here and was burned to death practicing for the 500 when Al was 21.

Loved His Brother "Al loved Jerry," said Al Unser's wife, Wanda. "They were very close. When Jerry died, Al made a promise to himself. He vowed he'd win the 500 one day because that was the race which cost him one of his brothers."

Originally there were four Unser brothers, Jerry Jr., and Louis, who were twins, Bobby

Flood Thinks He Can Make $500,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—Curt Flood testified in federal court that he thinks he can still earn almost $500,000 playing baseball.

Flood, who took the stand for the second time, said he thinks he can play another five years at $90,000 a year.

However, Chub Feeney, the National League president, then testified that Flood's figures are "speculative."

He added, "Flood is not in the same class with Willie Mays, Stan Musial and others."

"Flood is attempting to overthrow baseball's reserve clause in his suit against baseball. The trial resumed Monday after a Memorial Day recess and is now in its third week."

Feeney also said that the reserve clause is necessary for the continued operation of baseball. He claimed baseball's farm system for developing players for the major leagues would be jeopardized if the reserve clause was abolished.

"The farm clubs would go out of existence as they would be the first to go under," Feeney said. "This would, in turn, hurt team development."

Asked by a Flood attorney, Jay Topkis, whether he knew the difference between a ball player and slave, Feeney replied, "quite a difference."

He added, "A ball player is free to pursue outside work, free to live anywhere he wishes and has negotiating powers for his own contract."

and Al. Now there are only three and two of them finished among the top ten in the Memorial Day 500. Al won the ace and the better than $200,000 which goes with it while Bobby, winner of the 500 two years ago, finished ninth.

Possibly the happiest person of all among the more than 250,000 who watched Saturday's rain-delayed 500 miller was Mrs. Mary Unser, mother of Al and Bobby.

"There has never been a mother of two 500 champions before," a man came over and congratulated Mary Unser.

Favors Neither "Which of your sons were you rooting for today?" somebody else asked Mrs. Unser.

"I favor neither one of them," she said. "They're both my sons and I love them both dearly."

"After Mario (Andretti) won here last year he told me there is nothing to compare with winning this race," Unser said. "Now I know what he meant. This is the race every race driver in the world wants to win."

Al Unser had a special reason. An extra special reason.

Paul Blair Listed In Good Condition Following Surgery

ORANGE, Calif. (UPI)—Outfielder Paul Blair of the Baltimore Orioles was listed in good condition today following a 30-minute operation Monday night to repair multiple fractures to his nose and eye socket.

Blair, the defending American League champions' regular centerfielder, was struck in the face by a Ken Tatum fast ball against the California Angels Sunday.

Dr. Jason Stevens, an ophthalmologist, performed the surgery with the assistance of Dr. Joseph Triggs at St. Joseph's Hospital here.

"We performed an open reduction and reconstruction of multiple fractures of the nasal bone and the left orbit," a hospital spokesman said.

Triggs said Blair suffered double vision from the pitch but it could not be determined whether there will be any permanent damage to his left eye where the lower part of the orbit bone or socket was damaged.

Tatum visited Blair in his hospital room Monday afternoon to assure him the beating was accidental.

Blair's mother, Mrs. Zephra Primas of Los Angeles, was in the stands at Anaheim Stadium when the accident occurred Sunday.

Richey, Ashe Make Bids In French Open

PARIS (UPI)—Americans Cliff Richey and Arthur Ashe today made bids for places in the semifinals of the $100,000 French Open tennis championships as each faced one of Europe's best players.

Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., went on court against top-seeded Ili Nastase of Romania, while Ashe of Gum Springs, Va., faced Yugoslavia's Zeljko Franulovic in quarter-final clashes at Roland-Garros Stadium.

"I have no particular strategy against Nastase," Richey said before he went on court. "He's good in every way, so I've got to just get out there and play."

If both Richey and Ashe win their matches today, they will meet each other in the semifinal as each tries for a $10,000 first prize in men's singles competition.

Garrison Home Is Scene Of Sunnyside Homemakers Meet

The Sunnyside Homemakers Club met Thursday, May 14, at eleven o'clock in the morning at the home of Mrs. Wayne Garrison.

Presiding at the meeting was the president, Mrs. Garrison. The devotion from the book of Matthew was given by Mrs. Harold Bynum.

Mrs. Micky Cherry, secretary, called the roll with each member answering with an old fashioned custom that might well be revived today. The club discussed some business and talked about further plans.

The lesson for this month was "Managing Of Your Food Dollar" and was presented in a very interesting way by Mrs. Donald Thorn and Mrs. Max Dowdy. They gave some very helpful points on how to cut down on the food cost of the family.

A delightful potluck luncheon was served at the noon hour to the twelve members and three visitors, Mrs. Larry Watkins, Mrs. Happy Bynum, and Mrs. Steve Robertson.

The next meeting will be held at the Murray City Park with Mrs. Don Overby as the hostess.

Important mice

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens is teeming with mice. But they're not running up and down the halls and walls.

Some 23,000 of the little rodents representing 23 generations of the same genetic strain, were imported from the Miami (Fla.) University School of Medicine to be used here in cancer research. The fully-documented genealogical record of each mouse is an important factor in the study of immunity to cancer, according to the project's director, Dr. Daniel S. Martin, head of the CMC surgery department.

This research project, funded by the National Institute of Health, is aimed at development of broad-based therapy for breast cancer. Mice of the same genetic strain are vital to the experiment because they can be expected to show a similar degree of natural immunity to cancer cells.

Phosphate detergent ban

OTTAWA (UPI)—New Democratic party member Grace MacInnis suggested in the House of Commons that the government buy up existing stocks of high phosphate content detergents and destroy them, as it did with BDT pesticide.

J.J. Greene, Ministry of Energy, Mines and Resources, replied that a gradual ban on phosphates in detergents was scheduled to start in Canada Aug. 1. Unlike DDT, he said, phosphates are not a poison and "the delay of a few more months after the many, many years of phosphate use will not make a great deal of difference to the total problem."

COP OUT? Jane Lauren Alpert (above) who pleaded guilty in New York to bomb conspiracy charges involving government property, has disappeared and may have slipped out of the country. The 22-year-old radical was free on $20,000 bail and faced a possible five-year sentence and $10,000 fine.

Is sex before marriage wrong?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: That 17-year-old boy who wrote, "the boy is not always the aggressor," knew what he was talking about.

I am a 17-year-old girl, and several times I have felt like going farther than I should with my boyfriend, whom I really like.

All of us have normal passions that get stronger during adolescence. Married people have an outlet for their sexual desires, but what about teen-agers?

In American society, we are expected to abstain from sex relations for years and years until we are married. Why? So many other countries like Samoa have relaxed marital codes. I can see logical reasons for not being promiscuous, such as danger of venereal disease and unwanted babies, but when two healthy people want sex and know how to prevent pregnancy, and disease, why the big "No No?"

Our society is way ahead in so many things, like science, but it leaves its natural urges to wither away by pretending they don't exist.

If there is any valid reason why two healthy people in love should refrain from pre-marital sex, I would like to know what it is.

TRUTH SEEKING

DEAR SEEKING: The big "No No" is not the relationship between two normal, healthy, MATURE, responsible people "in love"—it's the use of sex by the immature, irresponsible, confused adolescent who mistakes his first sexual stirrings for "love."

"Knowing" how to prevent unwanted pregnancies and venereal disease is not enough to prevent them—witness NO decline in illegitimacy even with the Pill—and in spite of all the education concerning venereal disease, it's still on the INCREASE.

When you are ready to accept all the responsibilities and commitments of "love" and a family, you will not ask me what is wrong with pre-marital sex.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a diabetic. My doctor has me on a very strict diet, and I have to have my meals served promptly at certain hours.

For instance, I have to have eight ounces of meat for dinner every night with a vegetable and some starch, and for breakfast I have to have two pieces of bacon, one egg, a glass of orange juice and milk.

My problem is, I want to visit some friends of mine this summer at their cottages. How can I go about asking the parents of my friends to serve me special foods at a set time without sounding rude or selfish?

DIABETIC GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Since you obviously do not know the parents of your friends well enough to make such requests without embarrassment, if you want to visit them, I suggest you provide your own special foods, and also be prepared to cook for yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am involved in patient care in a hospital. We are frequently criticized as being "heartless" for asking the "next of kin" for permission to perform a post mortem (autopsy). Obviously, we cannot ask this question before the patient dies. Equally obviously we cannot wait until the grief has passed [a year or more—if ever].

If people understood that an autopsy is simply a careful examination of the body by specially trained doctors, perhaps there would be a greater acceptance of the procedure. No more "damage" is done to the body than is done by embalming which is required by a law in most states.

Even tho the cause of death may be known, much may be learned from an autopsy. [For example, "how the cancer spread" may help researchers find ways to reduce the suffering of future cancer patients. Or it may give clues to earlier detection of the disease.]

There is nothing to lose and so much to be gained from autopsies. If you print this, perhaps more people would be less horrified, and more understanding. Thank you.

Many College Students Are Involved In Community Projects In Summer Months

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many Joe Colleges went to jail last summer—to teach prisoners academic subjects.

Other students spent the long hot months adding boys and girls on probation or running playgrounds on steamy asphalt streets.

At dozens of city halls, male and female college students helped man complaint departments, aided city planners, and pitched in where needed.

This summer more than 10,000 students will do such things and many more in 80 cities—helping to oil the squeaking wheels of city life as members of the Urban Corps.

Students are involved "The students will be involved in every aspect of public affairs, ranging from legal research and pollution control to community development and remedial education," says Michael B. Goldstein, director of the Urban Corps National Development Office.

"There are assignments will be based upon needs and priorities of the individual communities, and their own interests, experience and objectives."

The first Urban Corps was launched four years ago by Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York. Two years ago, the Ford Foundation provided funds for the development office—to expand the role of creative students in cities nationwide. Urban Corps programs in Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Atlanta, New Orleans and St. Louis each anticipate several hundred participants this summer. And New York City, where it all started, expects nearly 4,000.

City Pays One-Fifth Most students will be paid between $2.25 and $3.25 an hour, the money coming primarily from Uncle Sam through the college work-study program. One-fifth of the pay comes from the city.

In this era of college students wanting to be involved, the Urban Corps provides the opportunity for constructive involvement.

Another benefit to the students, according to Goldstein: "The chance to test a career, to make use of years of schoolroom training, to get a first hand look at the real world."

Fall Plans Made By Tau Phi Lambda Sorority At Meet

The final meeting of Tau Phi Lambda social sorority, Sigma Delta chapter, was held at the Woodmen of the World building on Wednesday, May 20, at six-thirty o'clock in the evening.

Several plans were made for upcoming fall rush which will be held October 1-4. The theme of the fall rush will be "Getting To Know You". Pledging, then, will begin on Monday, October 5, when the pledge ribbons will be given. Ribbon week will end on the following Monday with the presentation of the pledge pins. Installation of pledges as active members will be held Monday evening, November 30.

The possibility of having a retreat just before the fall term begins was discussed, and it was decided to rent a cabin at Kentucky State Park for such an event. The dates set for this were Sunday and Monday, September 13 and 14.

Sorority outfits will be made over summer vacation to be worn in the fall. Tunic-style, the dresses will be worn over flared pants of the same material and color.

An official TPL sweatshirt has been adopted. It will be dark brown with the Tau-Phi Lambda crest on the front. The jewels have been selected to make a die from which lavaliers and other Greek-letter jewelry can be made. Stationery has also been ordered from the national WOW headquarters.

Following the meeting a candlelight ceremony was held for Marsha Brooks who was pinned to Roger Jones, a Pershing Rifle at Murray State University, according to Elaine Hamby, TPL historian.

Parents Should Start Early In Life To Acquaint Child With The Joy Of Reading

By JAMES R. JOHNSON

to do so before he is ready or able."

CHICAGO (UPI)—The world in which we live is one of words. Starts acquainting the children with their wonder early.

Through conversation, yes. And most certainly, through books. For as one educator puts it, "America's top leaders in all fields are invariably avid readers. The ability to communicate, whether writing, reading, speaking or even listening, is an essential quality and it is rooted in good reading habits which are formed early."

Speaking is William J. Worrell, president of the Pilgrim Book Society, which he founded 12 years ago to promote good reading.

Worrell is among the educators who stress early experience in the home as the key to getting children off on the right foot with words.

Create Climate He believes that getting a child to read and enjoy reading is not so much a matter of leading him to books as it is creating a climate in which he sees reading as an enjoyable and rewarding experience.

"If a parent can create a warm atmosphere of reading pleasure, it could be the beginning of a lifelong interest in reading and learning for that child," said Worrell.

The society, aided by professional librarians and the American Library Association, creates reading lists prepared to expose individuals to outstanding literature and reinforce reading experience, Worrell explained.

"The role of the parent and teachers is to inspire the youngster...not to pressure him

In an interview, Worrell commented that a child's interest in reading can be enhanced by choosing books which will sustain his interest and by developing good reading habits at an early age.

Offers Suggestions

He offered some suggestions to parents:

—Set an example. Let your child see you reading. "Just sit down with the evening newspaper and watch the curious youngster join you while you read," said Worrell.

—Keep reading materials for the child with you. "A book is a most pleasant time killer," he said, "particularly during a tedious car ride or while waiting in a doctor's office."

—Give books as gifts to build a family library.

Worrell doesn't forget that adults, too, need to keep their reading habits growing. Read as much advanced material as possible he urged. Advanced poetry is an "ideal area of enjoyment," he said.

Pioneer choo-choo

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI)—For many years during the 1800's, Paterson was the nation's leading builder of locomotives. One engine built there is said to have been the first ever to run west of the Alleghenies.

It was shipped in 1837 to Sandusky, Ohio, where the Mad River & Lake Erie Railroad people eagerly awaited its arrival. They hadn't even constructed the track for it as yet. But for good reason. Their engineers had to be sure to set the rails at the proper width to fit the wheels.

of the "black bloc vote" which went solidly for Brewer in the seven-man race.

But the key to today's balloting may be the 150,000 votes that went for millionaire businessman Charles Woods, who remained neutral in the runoff. These votes could be decisive in the expected close race between Wallace and his one-time protege.

Another factor could be the weather. Thunderstorms were predicted for the entire state and Brewer forces feared that rain would keep many black voters at home.

Wallace needs a spectacular come-from-behind win to resuscitate his image as a leader of the third party movement he headed as a presidential candidate in 1968.

Victory in the primary is tantamount to election in Alabama. Although little more than 1 million persons voted in the first primary, it was predicted a new record would be set in the runoff. With 30,000 new registrants signed to voter rolls between the primaries and the intense interest in the campaign, it was believed the traditional trend toward a lower turnout in the runoff might be reversed.

Although both Wallace, 50, and Brewer, 41, who took office when Wallace's wife, Lurleen, died two years ago, campaigned on the issues in the first primary, Wallace's appeal turned to racial matters in the three-week runoff.

Wallace charged "black militants" had organized a "black bloc vote" for Brewer in the first primary.

Brewer denied he received a bloc vote from Negroes, saying blacks apparently distributed their ballots between him and Woods.

"If I had gotten the black bloc vote he says I did, I would have won the first primary without a runoff," said Brewer. "I wouldn't be here now."

In his final appeals, Wallace said whites had the option of voting for him or turning control of Alabama over to "a few black militants" who will "rule for the next 50 years."

Brewer said the Wallace charges were "an insult to voters' intelligence," and accused Wallace of running a "smear" and "gutter-type campaign."

Wallace responded to this election eve by telling Brewer "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen."

had been held prior to approval. Preston upheld the club's objections to the Aetna request. It would have raised the company's rates above the level of the other companies which are also members of the Insurance Rating Board.

The club asserted Aetna's request was in violation of state law which requires members of the same insurance rating organization to increase or decrease their rates equally and at the same time unless a specified deviation procedure has been followed. The club said Aetna did not follow this procedure.

Aetna contended the deviation section of the law was not applicable to it because of the circumstances resulting in the rate increase request.

er and historian of international renown.

Dr. Harry M. Sparks, university president who will confer the degrees during the first daytime spring graduation exercise at the university in 25 years, said both are deserving of the "highest distinction," Lowry as one of the great teachers of all-time and Pogue as one of the most distinguished alumni.

"It is a rare and fortunate circumstance for this university to be privileged to grant this kind of recognition to a remarkable teacher and to an outstanding student of that teacher," he said.

The occasion of an honorary degree is another coincidence to be shared by the teacher-student combination. Both natives of Crittenden County, they were each honored as "distinguished" in 1964 by the Murray State Alumni Association, Lowry as the distinguished professor and Pogue as the distinguished alumnus.

Lowry, who joined the faculty in 1925 and, except for the years he took off for graduate study at Harvard University and the University of Kentucky, served continuously until his retirement.

Besides political science, at one time or another during his tenure he taught history, economics, sociology, and philosophy.

A prolific reader who served more than a quarter of a century as chairman of the library committee at the university, he was honored in 1967 when a new library annex was named for him.

Pogue once wrote of Lowry, who earned the A.B. and Ph.D. degrees at UK and the M.A. degree at Harvard:

"He has been offered other tempting jobs but his heart has always stayed here at Murray. The school has no more candid critic. And it has no fiercer defender."

Although the emphasis during the conferring the honorary degrees will be on the teacher-student relationship, of Lowry and Pogue, Pogue has also served on the faculty at Murray State.

A 1931 cum laude graduate, he came back to Murray State on two occasions, 1933-37 and 1944-46, as a member of the faculty.

He has been involved since 1944 in collecting and publishing material on two of the country's greatest generals — Marshall and Dwight D. Eisenhower. He also assisted immediately after World War II to record the combat history of the European War.

His four-volume account of Marshall's life is almost three-fourths completed — with the third volume scheduled for publication this year.

Pogue earned the master's degree at the University of Kentucky and the Ph.D. degree at Clark University. Now president-elect of the Murray State Alumni Association, he will take office as president in June of 1971.

Today's Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened higher in moderately active trading today.

The market may pause for profit taking following four consecutive sharp advances. One analyst said the "logical thing" would be for stocks to run into profit taking. But he added that the optimism, which began last week, continued to feed on itself Monday, just as pessimism fed on itself during the recent protracted decline. This, he suggested, could indicate that the rally still has further to go.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a gain of 0.59 per cent on 312 issues on the tape. Advances outnumbered declines, 161 to 67.

International Paper opened up 1/8 to 32 1/2, while Bristol-Myers gained 1/2 to 51 1/2 and General Telephone 1/4 to 25 1/2. Teledyne picked up 1/4 to 20 1/2. American Telephone dipped 1/4 to 44 1/2. Hewlett-Packard spurted 2 1/2 to 34 1/2.

Penn Central gained 1/2 to 13 1/2 in the rails, while Allied Chemical added 1/4 to 19 1/2 among the chemicals. Du Pont surrendered 1/2 to 114 1/2.

In the electronics, Sperry Rand was off 1/2 to 28 1/2. Control Data picked up 1/2 to 38 1/2. Texas Instruments 1/4 to 85. Memorex added 1/2 to 78 1/2, with University Computing up 1/2 to 25, and Honeywell also ahead 1/2 to 90 1/2. RCA slipped 1/4 to 23 1/2. General Electric 1/4 to 67 1/2.

Among the steels, U.S. Steel eased 1/4 to 33 1/2, but Bethlehem rose 1/2 to 25 1/2, and Armco 1/4 to 22.

In the automotive group, General Motors dipped 1/2 to 66 1/2. Chrysler rose 1/2 to 23.

Seen & Heard

just finished reading the letter written to you from Miss Beth Wilson. As you can see by the date of this letter I received your letter a few days late, but I enjoy it greatly.

"I want to thank Miss Wilson for the faith she shows in our great nation. How much easier our job here would be if we only knew that the entire population of our nation was behind us, as Miss Wilson is. To me, she shows more intelligence than the college students who are protesting and she is only in the eighth grade.

"Again, I want to say thank you Miss Wilson and don't worry, we won't let you down." A MHS graduate in Viet Nam.

This young man signs his name, but asks that it not be printed.

We would say that this letter is highly indicative of how much opinion and support in the United States has on the morale of those fighting men overseas.

Senator Marlow Cook recently sent out a questionnaire asking opinions on vital issues. We answered the questions and sent them in. Over 20,000 persons replied.

Tractor Mishap Is Fatal

WICKLIFFE, Ky., June 1—A 56-year-old Ballard County farmer was killed late this afternoon when his tractor overturned, pinning him beneath the farm vehicle.

Coroner Milton Allen said Charles Luther Rudder, who lived two miles east of Blandville was dead on arrival at the Wickliffe Clinic following the accident. Allen said Rudder died of chest injuries.

Rudder, a native of Granite City, Ill., had lived in Ballard County for about five years.

Fur thefts up in Germany

BONN (UPI)—Thefts of furs by organized gangs who steal them by the carload and smuggle them across national borders for resale has increased sharply in recent years in West Germany as well as in neighboring countries.

In 1969, furs worth 13 million marks ($3,500,000) were stolen from German stores and warehouses, the Federal Criminal Police said in a report to parliament.

We did not list ours in the above order. We listed inflation first because so many of the other issues stem from our present inflationary economy, with campus unrest second.

We added a note to our questionnaire to Senator Cook that we did not agree with his vote on Judge G. Harrold Carswell. He voted against Carswell.

It was the first of the states to have a college—Harvard—founded in Cambridge in 1636; the first to have a public secondary school—Boston Latin School, in 1635, and the first to have a general high school—Boston English High School, in 1821.

Miss Mathis

DENVER, Colo., June 1—18-year-old Karen Mathis of Benton, Ky., underwent her second kidney transplant today with her father, James E. Mathis, serving as the donor.

Miss Mathis was listed in satisfactory condition by hospital attendants.

A single kidney, donated by Miss Mathis' mother last Dec. 26, was later removed when a blood clot developed in the organ.

A fund-raising drive last November brought in about $22,000 for Miss Mathis, who has been ill for several years.

Who is this lady?

A Little Orphan Annie.
B. The Jolly Green Giantess.
C. The Statue of Liberty.
D. Mae West.

If you picked anything other than C, well, you're in a whole lot of trouble.

Sure, you probably picked the Statue of Liberty. Everybody knows who she is and what she stands for.

Or do they?

It's amazing how many of us take this proud lady of the New York Harbor for granted.

We should know that her proper name is "Liberty Enlightening the World."

That she symbolizes the triumph of freedom over tyranny. That she is a declaration of our independence.

Of course, we need more than statues to remind us of our freedom. We need action, by each and every one of us.

And that's where U. S. Savings Bonds come in. They help preserve that thing called freedom.

They help make this country of ours economically stronger to tackle some of the problems that face us.

And, buying Savings Bonds can be easy and automatic. All you have to do is join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. And then you can sit back and forget 'em while the money piles up.

So think about the freedoms we enjoy. And think about U. S. Savings Bonds as a way to keep us free.

As for Miss Liberty, well, when you're in New York go up and see her sometime.
